Libyan factions sign ceasefire after talks

GENEVA: Libya's two rival factions signed a "permanent" ceasefire agreement on Friday following five days of talks in Geneva, the United Nations hailed as historic turning point for peace and stability.

Delegates wearing masks stood before signing the agreement in Geneva with Stephanie Williams, who has been sent by Libya since dictator Moamar Qadhafi was toppled in 2011 in a Nato-backed uprising.

The "talks in Geneva today culminate in a historic achievement as Libya teams reach a permanent ceasefire throughout the Libyan," the UN's Libya mission said.

"This achievement is an important turning point towards peace and stability in Libya," according its Facebook page, quoting the co-chairs of the talks at the UN embassy at the UN Palais des Nations.

The UN said the deal takes effect immediately.

Stephanie Williams, the UN envoy for the troubled North African country, said it was "a moment that will go down in history".

"You have met for the sake of Libya, for your people, in order to take concrete steps to put an end to their suffering," she said at the signing ceremony.

"Nobody can love Libya as much as you do," said Williams, who heads the UN Support Mission in Libya (UNSMIL).

"The road was long and difficult at times. Your patience was your way forward and you were able to reach a ceasefire agreement.

"I hope that this agreement will put an end to the suffering of the Libyan people and we hope it will allow the displaced and refugees inside and outside the country to return to their homes and to live in peace and safety.

"Blind spots, centres and enclaves of militias are vying for control, human rights violations have been rampant, and traffickers are using the chaos to smuggle desperate migrants on dangerous sea journeys to Europe."

The GNA, based in Tripoli in the west is held by the internationally recognised Government of National Accord, while a parliament based in the eastern city of Tobruk is backed by forces led by military commander Khalifa Haftar.

Haftar — supported by Russia, the United Arab Emirates and Egypt — launched an offensive on Tripoli in April 2019 but was pushed back early this year as pro-GNA forces received crucial support from Turkey. —AFP

Xi invokes Chinese military might with US in mind

BEIJING: President Xi Jinping on Friday warned of China's military resolve to defeat "invaders", speaking at a ceremony marking the Korean War, the only time Chinese forces have fought the United States.

In a long speech, heavy on patriotism and flecked by anecdotes of heroism by Chinese troops in the conflict, Xi also called for "unity" in the 1950-53 conflict was a reminder that his nation stood ready to fight anyone "creating trouble" on China's doorstep.

Beijing frequently uses war anniversaries to issue thinly veiled warnings to the US of the military strength of the "new China".

The Korean War is a key foundation story for the ruling Communist Party.

Xi said it was necessary "to unleash patriotism, protectionism and extreme egotism". —AFP

Trump, in a bitter row spanning trade, tech, human rights and the status of Taiwan, which China says is an inalienable part of the mainland.

Without explicitly naming the US, Xi loaded up with the historical precedent of the Korean war and took swings at modern day "unilaterialism, protectionism and extreme egotism".
